

Hi there!,

After reading your job posting, I spent some time going through your website and looking into Mavencare's platform. I get the sense that your company would be a really great place to work for. I love how Mavencare provides the ability for seniors to reside in their own homes, rather than uprooting their life and living in a care facility. I think what Mavencare does is very special, and must mean so much to the families of seniors that you care for. I especially love how you're creating such easy access to your services by allowing your customers to interact with Mavencare online. I would love to be a part of a company that is so dedicated to their customers, and doing such great things!

I am a Front-End Web Developer, with skills including, but not limited to, JavaScript, jQuery, Git, Gulp, Github, HTML5, CSS3, Sass, and Responsive Design. I have a strong attention to detail, and care deeply about designing clean and beautiful websites that are accessible for all users. My favourite aspect of web development is building web apps that have tons of CSS, where I can really apply my love for styling to create beautiful, and fully responsive applications. I am also in the process of studying for Google's Mobile Sites certification, as I strongly believe it is important for developers to consistently demonstrate an understanding of how to create responsive sites, as well as how to target user-related obstacles in their code, that are accessible and user-friendly. Along with the skills already mentioned, what I can bring to Mavencare is a very strong passion and motivation to put my all into a company. I am an extremely hard worker and will never give up on a challenge. I am also a huge fan of learning, so any skill that I don't currently possess, that Mavencare is looking for, you can be sure that I will learn them. I love learning on my own time, and would have no problem spending my off time acquiring certain skills this role requires. All in all, what I can bring to your team is a never ending passion for learning new things, and a very positive attitude.

Attached is my resume, and you can find my full portfolio here:
